12/1 GREEN MOUNTAIN & THREE FINGER VISTA

Green Mountain, a prominent long ridge located west of the Glacier Peak Wilderness area, is a destination that we have not visited for several years. The ski route ascends the south flank of the massif then circles around to the north where the shaded early season snow gets deeper and more consistent. The changing aspect also reveals many vistas of beautiful glaciers hanging off Three Fingers, as well as distant views of Whitehorse Mountain, the peak that towers over the town of Darrington, Mt. Bullon and others are all within about a 25 mile radius. Also visible is Windy Pass and Liberty Mountain. Liberty Mountain used to have a German name but was re-christened during the first world war due to the public sentiment of the time. Also visible from our route is the old abandoned ski area on Mt. Pilchuck (1951-1979). Pilchuck's summit and dramatic lookout is 5,327' above sea level and can be reached via a short two mile summer trail.

When this lookout was built back in 1919 there were no phone lines in the area, so communication was by US Army heliograph, a device with mirrors and shutters which allowed line of sight Morse Code transmission. We certainly have come a long way since those days! Bring your seat pad for this trip as there are several scenic spots for lunch along the route. Provided: transit, maps. Date 12/1 Cost $48
